DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 1-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. There is inconsistency between the preamble and portions of the body of the claims as the applicant has claimed a seat for a vehicle the in the preambles of claims 1,14,25,28 and then positively recites the vehicle including portions thereof as part of the invention. Applicant must clarify what the claims are drawn to I.e. the seat or the combination of the seat and vehicle. Consequently the claims are examined in view of the seat only.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(e) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 1,6,8,10,12,25 and 28 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lohr et al. Lohr et al. shows the use of a central pillar (11), a center support (7) extending forwardly therefrom, a lower rib (5) and an intermediate rib (5) extend laterally from the central pillar in order to respectively support a seat bottom (8) and back (9) thereon. Lohr et al. shows the use of a grab handle (25) on an outer edge of the seat back. There is an opening (formed by the frame (3,4) and ribs) in the seat back and seat bottom prior to the cushion being applied (see Fig, 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-4,6-8,14-23,25-30 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grieger in view of Lohr et al. Grieger shows the use of a central pillar (6), a center support (14) extending forwardly therefrom, a lower rib (3) extends laterally from the central pillar in order to support a seat bottom (4). Grieger further shows the use of an upper rib extending laterally from the pillar in order to support a headrest. Grieger shows all of the teachings of the claimed invention except the use of an intermediate and secondary rib for supporting a seat back and a grab handle. Lohr et al. shows the use of an intermediate and secondary rib (5) which extends laterally from a central pillar (11) for supporting a seat back, Lohr et al. further shows the use of a grab handle (25) thereon. The intermediate ribs via the seat back indirectly support opposing ends of the grab handle. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the seat back of Grieger with the teachings of Lohr et al., in order to better stabilize the seat structure as well as provide additional support for an occupant.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 9,11,13, and 24 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
